

Professor of Medicine
Division Chief, Pulmonary and Critical Care Medicine

Academic Position Summary:

- The Division of Pulmonary and Critical Care Medicine in the Weill Department of Medicine at NewYork-Presbyterian/Weill Cornell Medical Center is seeking an academic board-certified pulmonologist to lead our distinguished faculty. Our division is nationally recognized for providing advanced clinical care, conducting pioneering research, offering unique teaching opportunities, and demonstrating a steadfast commitment to improving the health status of the community we serve.
- Weill Cornell Medicine (WCM) is the medical school of Cornell University. Faculty members have clinical appointments at NewYork-Presbyterian Hospital (NYPH), one of the largest and most comprehensive academic medical centers in the nation and one of New York City's top-ranked hospitals.

Academic Responsibilities:

- The new division chief will have the opportunity to build substantively. Resources and space will be available for the recruitment of new faculty and development of new programs.
- Will oversee all academic, research, residency training, clinical, and administrative aspects of the division involving full-time and voluntary faculty throughout Weill Cornell Medicine, including NewYork-Presbyterian-Lower Manhattan Hospital and our affiliated NewYork-Presbyterian Brooklyn Methodist Hospital and NewYork-Presbyterian Queens Hospital.

Medical Education Requirements:

- Candidates must maintain an M.D or comparable foreign medical degree
- Certification by the American Board of Internal Medicine (ABIM) in Pulmonary and Critical Care Medicine

Academic Appointment Requirements:

- Academic rank of Associate Professor or Professor of Medicine typically includes 8-10 years of academic experience with first author scholarship related to the clinical and research fields and teaching.
- Competitive candidates should have strong leadership, mentoring, and interpersonal skills and a demonstrable commitment to our tripartite mission.
- Successful post-training candidates will be a recognized physician-investigator with evidence of a strong national reputation in the clinical field of pulmonary and critical care medicine, including leadership and/or a key role in clinical activities, such as approaches to diagnosis; treatment or prevention of disease (such as asthma, pneumonia, pulmonary hypertension, COVID, and interstitial lung disease) and proficiency in the interpretation of bronchoscopy and pulmonary function testing

Clinical Appointment Requirements:

- Appointment as an Attending Physician of NYPH will be contingent upon approval of the Weill Cornell Medicine academic appointment. Hospital attending and/or consultation privileges will be limited to Weill Cornell Medicine and NewYork-Presbyterian Lower Manhattan Hospital (unless otherwise specifically agreed to in writing by the dean of Weill Cornell Medical College).

Professional Licenses and Certifications:

- A valid New York State medical license, DEA license, board certification, and all applicable certification and/or credentialing specific to the medical specialty; must meet the qualifications to enroll and participate in all third-party payer insurance plan credentialing.

Competencies:

- Must remain compliant with all WCM and NYPH initiatives, including completion of WCM's annual academic self- assessment and NYPH's annual professional peer evaluation.

Compensation and Benefits:

- We offer highly competitive benefits, including 403B, CME, malpractice coverage, including tail coverage, LTD and life insurance, and tuition reimbursement for qualified employees and dependents.
- Rank commensurate with experience.
- Base Salary range only – excluding bonuses, administrative supplement for role as division chief and clinical incentive compensation of benefits:

Professor of Medicine: $225,000-$406,000

Weill Cornell Medicine provides the above salary ranges in compliance with the New York City law on Salary Transparency in Job Advertisements. The salaries listed are for full-time employment, not including bonuses, administrative supplement, clinical incentive compensation, or benefits. Actual salaries depend on a variety of factors including but not limited to experience, internal equity, specialty, training, and hospital/community needs. The salary ranges for New York City-based roles represent WCM's good faith and reasonable estimate of possible compensation at the time of posting.
